This year marks the 118th anniversary of the start of the Greek Genocide in Thrace, Pontus and Anatolia.

Over 1,000,000 Greeks, including 353,000 Pontian Greeks, perished at the hands of the Ottoman/Kemalist forces.

We do not forget this brutal extermination and forced uprooting of the Greek population from their ancestral and historic homes, who lived in Pontus, Thrace and Anatolia since the time of Homer around 800 BCE.

Every year on May 19th Greeks across the world remember this heinous crime and honour all those who perished.

May they rest in peace, and their memory and sacrifices inspire us to advance peace, freedom and democracy in the age of authoritarianism.
